

Introducing
BAY NATURE

Bay Nature Institute is an independent nonprofit media organization that inspires people to explore and protect the natural world of the San Francisco Bay Area through the following programs:

Bay Nature magazine — This award-winning quarterly, launched in 2001, is our flagship program, reaching some 24,000 readers with stories about nature and conservation in the Bay Area. The magazine is carried in 123 retail outlets.

Web and social media — Baynature.org features original news stories about local nature and the environment; the region's most comprehensive calendar of nature-related events; and a map-based Trailfinder service. With our e-newsletters, Facebook page, Twitter feed, YouTube channel, and Pinterest, we connect with 86,000 people per month online.

A Bay Nature hike

Hikes and Events — We offer free guided hikes throughout the year and occasional community forums and events on significant topics.

Local Hero Awards — Each year, Bay Nature honors the contributions of a conservation activist, an environmental educator, and an up-and-coming young conservationist at our annual gala dinner.

BN Annual Awards Dinner

Video — Bay Nature showcases the natural diversity of the region through video shorts that appear on PBS affiliate television stations in Northern California, on YouTube, and on Baynature.org.

Partnerships: Bay Nature maintains active partnerships with more than 100 environmentally oriented nonprofits, public agencies, and natural history institutions in the Bay Area, including the Bay Area Open Space Council, Bay Area Ecosystem Climate Change Consortium, Golden Gate National Parks Conservancy, Marine Mammal Center, State Coastal Conservancy, Point Blue Conservation Science, Save Mount Diablo, and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Budget: With an annual budget of $825,000 and a staff of eight, Bay Nature is a very prudent steward of funds, relying on a sustainable mix of revenues from magazine sales, advertising, grants, and charitable donations from more than 1,000 individuals.

Awards: Committee for Green Foothills Nature's Inspiration (2015), Save Mount Diablo's Mountain Star Media Award (2011), the Bay Institute's Carla Bard Bay Education Award (2011), the John Muir Conservation Association's Environmental Educator Award (2009), Best Editorial Supplement from Western Publications Association (2010 and 2005), Best Site Publication from the National Association of Interpretation (2005), and Best Consumer Quarterly from the WPA (2003).

I cannot express how enthusiastic I am about Bay Nature . . . If we can get the local population to understand even one-tenth as much about living systems as they do about operating systems, we can transform the nine-county region!" — Paul Hawken, author/social entrepreneur
